

“CONTINUING PROGRAM OF EDUCATIONAL SEMINARS”

Professional Ethics

Does accepted business practice in 2006 constitute ethical behaviour? What is the expert opinion?

Presenter:

Dr Simon Longstaff is our expert and invited guest presenter. He is well known to industry executives in Australia and overseas for his pragmatic and candid position on ethical behaviour in all spheres. His article on the subject of 'free trade cheats' published in the SMH on Monday 6 February 2006 is thought provoking.

Simon is a philosopher and ethicist whose work focus is mostly in the wider community beyond academe. He has been Executive Director of St James Ethics Centre since 1991. Established in 1989, the Centre is an independent not-for-profit organisation which provides a non-judgemental forum for the promotion and exploration of ethics. For more information about St James Ethics Centre please visit the Centre's website – www.ethics.org.au

One of the Executive Director's roles is to encourage the process of integrating ethical considerations into the strategic thinking of the management community. More generally, Simon encourages and contributes to the active discussion of ethical questions amongst the widest possible audience.

Simon has a Bachelor's Degree in Education and won scholarships to study at Cambridge, where he read for the degrees of Master of Philosophy and Doctor of Philosophy.
